Writing work

- My articles are featured on a san francisco based publication, Noteworthy - the Journal blog https://blog.usejournal.com/
- As a software developer I am concerned about how the technologies we develop affect end users. The article i wrote "social media...a Trojan Horse ?" looks at how social media, a commonly used technology, affects the mental health of end users.

- As a young person in tech and innovation it was quite exciting to have worked in a work environment like that at Young and Rubicam. The article I wrote " My time with Young and Rubicam " looks at my experience and outlook on working in a conducive work environment.
